PROGRAM: BOB PRESSLER ON TRANSPLANTING

Bob Pressler is the owner of Kimura Bonsai and Landscape Nursery in Northridge. He is also a bonsai artist and teacher. The thumbnail picture at left shows Bob with the huge juniper forest that he created as a memorial to September 11. You can see a larger picture at <http://kimurabonsainursery.robertpressler.com/>. Bob will talk about everything you wanted to know about transplanting. Transplanting is a messy but necessary process that is still mysterious to many people and is not often the subject of demonstrations. Bob will rectify that situation.

LAST MONTH'S PROGRAM: TOM POST AND ROOT-OVER-ROCK TRIDENT MAPLES

Speaking of transplanting, Tom repotted a couple of partially trained maples to see how their roots were developing, and demonstrated how to hold the roots in close contact with the rock using coarse twine that leaves no trace as it rots away. He re-buried the roots to further develop them before exposing them. Trident maples grow quickly and benefit from annual attention to their roots. The pictures below show Tom's tree that Mel Ikeda first placed on the rock one year ago. The picture on the left shows Mel's hands as he works to place the tree on the rock last year; the other two pictures show Tom working on it during his demo this year.

PESTICIDE FOOTNOTE

In January we heard recommendations on newer pesticides that are supposed to be more environmentally friendly than many of the old ones we've used for years. One of the recommendations was Imidacloprid, sold as Grubex and Gaucho. For what it's worth, it turns out that beekeepers hate the stuff, and it has been banned in France.

DO YOU NEED SOIL MATERIALS?

Club member Hank Gugel says he regularly visits four nurseries in the Los Angeles area: Roy Nagatoshi's Fuji Bonsai Nursery, Bob Pressler's Kimura Bonsai Nursery, San Gabriel Nursery, and House of Bonsai, and has offered to bring materials such as Roy Nagatoshi's soil mix, akadama, and Turface to our club meetings for anyone who needs them. Contact Hank at hank.gugel@ngc.com or (818) 519-0349 if you'd like to take advantage of his offer.
